Welcome to The Fowey

beautiful location...

Fowey is ranked as one of the UK's most desirable locations and it is easy to see why. The Fowey hotel sits on the bank of the Fowey Estuary, offering stunning views over the water to Polruan and out to sea.

From the hotel it is a short stroll into the charming town centre to wander around the eclectic selection of shops and galleries. The harbour area is bustling and from there you can catch a foot ferry over to Polruan or around the headland to another pretty fishing village, Mevagissey.

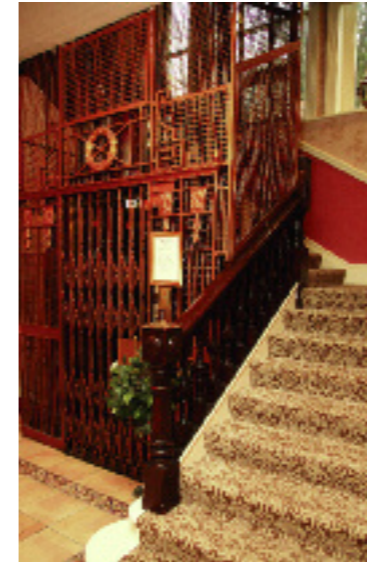

The coastal walks in the area are breathtaking. The Fowey hotel is well placed for visiting all of Cornwall's major attractions and it is only a 15 minute drive to The Eden Project, dubbed the eighth Wonder of the World.

about the hotel...

The 4 star Fowey hotel is a haven of tranquillity and its views over Fowey are mesmerising. It is set in landscaped gardens that extend to a separate hidden haven across the road where Afternoon Tea can be enjoyed in the Tea Garden during the summer months.

This attractive Victorian-inspired building has been beautifully decorated with antique and modern furnishings that provide a relaxing and comfortable environment. As well as the bar and restaurant, there are 2 comfortable lounges in which to relax and a balcony where lunch, an evening bar meal, morning coffee or afternoon tea can be enjoyed in clement weather. Wi-fi is available on and around ground floor areas. The hotel is known for its friendly staff and attentive service and has been a beacon for returning guests year after year.

The Fowey hotel has 37 bedrooms, each individually furnished to a high standard. Bedrooms are available in a choice of categories: Standard, Select, Premier and Premier Plus. All bedrooms include basic comforts such as remote control colour TV, clock/radio, hospitality tray, hairdryer, direct dial telephone and modem connection.

Select, Premier and Premier Plus rooms all offer views out over the Fowey Estuary. Premier and Premier Plus rooms include king-size or 4-poster beds and include thoughtful extras such as DVD TVs, bathrobes, toiletries and mineral water. Some of these rooms also boast a balcony or terrace area.

The Fowey hotel holds a prestigious AA Rosette awarded for excellent cuisine. The restaurant has an air of period elegance for relaxed dining with the added attraction of wonderful views over the estuary. In the morning it is sunny and bright, a perfect place to enjoy a hearty and freshly cooked breakfast and homemade jams.

Daily changing menus make superb use of quality local produce – fresh from the land or sea. Head Chef, Mark Griffiths, is a Master Chef of Great Britain so runs a skilled kitchen team. Its careful attention to detail assures guests that every dish tastes as sensational as it looks.

For those seeking simpler fare, delicious lunches and evening bar meals are served in the spacious bar and lounge areas, all offering those wonderful views over the Fowey Estuary.

plenty to see and do...

Fowey is famous for its annual Daphne DuMaurier Literary Festival held each May in honour of the author who spent many happy years in Fowey. Her former homes can be found at Bodinnick and Readymoney Cove. The town is also known as a Red Arrows favourite flying sortie as the dramatic backdrop of land and water lends itself perfectly to their flying display each August during Fowey Royal Regatta Week.

You can walk around the coast from Fowey as far as you desire and the views around every corner are wonderful. There are also gentle walks through lush wooded areas if you follow the river for up to 7 miles towards the pretty village of Lerryn.

• Mevagissey

• Charlestown

• The Eden Project

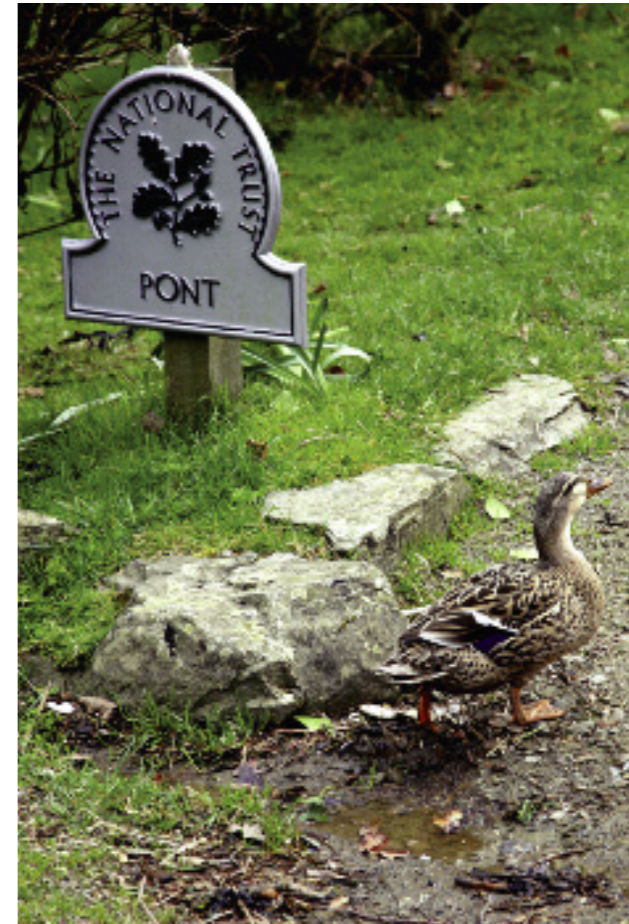

• The Lost Gardens of Heligan

• Canoes at Lerryn

• Lanhydrock

A 15 minute drive takes you to the renowned Eden Project and the Lost Gardens of Heligan are also a short drive away. Equally accessible are the delightful town of Lostwithiel, known as the antique capital of Cornwall because of its plethora of antique shops, and Lanhydrock House, a glorious NT property located just outside of neighbouring Bodmin. The quaint port of Charlestown with its tall ships (a popular film location) and the fishing village of Mevagissey are also within easy traveling distance.

There is a choice of sandy beaches, cycle trails, boat hire, sailing – you can never be bored in Fowey and the north coast of Cornwall, with its famous surf beaches, is only a half hour drive away.

How to find us

The ancient town of Fowey is situated on the south coast of Cornwall. Local roads have improved greatly in recent years and access to the rest of England is easily managed by the A30 which provides almost 100% dual carriageway from Bodmin to the M5 at Exeter.

From the North:

From M5 join the A30 at Junction 31 (signed Okehampton). Exit A30 at Bodmin, take B3268 towards Lanhydrock, then B3269 to Fowey until entering Fowey. On approaching roundabout go straight and continue for approx 1/2 mile. At second roundabout take first exit (Polvillion Road) for a further 1/2 mile. Take first exit from roundabout and head down hill, take first left immediately as road bends (to right), then next right signposted Fowey Hotel. Continue along Daglands Road until the road bends to the right, here take the left hand turn signposted The Fowey Hotel and continue down this driveway to the hotel. Welcome!
